

The El Cerrito Historical Society presents a:
Sneak Preview of the Chung Mei Home
Wednesday, March 11, 2015 5:30 p.m.

This event is free but attendance is limited. RSVPs required!

Steve Chamberlin and Doug Giffin of Education Matters, the owner of the campus, will discuss the historically sensitive restoration of the building and lead a tour.

Founded in 1923 and operating in El Cerrito from 1935 to 1954, the Chung Mei Home was the only such home for Chinese boys in the country. The building has been beautifully preserved over the years and has been deemed eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. Education Matters leases the campus to Summit Public Schools, which opened last August. We are inviting some of the 'Chung Mei boys' who lived at the home.

1800 Elm Street, El Cerrito

Meet in the Main Building of the historic Home on Elm Street. Three blocks from the El Cerrito Del Norte BART station.

For information, Dave Weinstein, 510-524-1737, davidsweinstein@yahoo.com.
RSVP before March 9 – much earlier if you are wise! No one admitted without a reservation.
Parking is very limited at the site so please try to carpool.

Also, Education Matters will celebrate the Official Opening For The Renovated Main Building on Monday, March 23. The Historical Society will co-host this event; details will be forthcoming.
